

Ane Rodríguez Armendariz

Ane Rodríguez Armendariz was appointed Cultural Director of Tabakalera in summer 2012 to set up the cultural project at the former Tobacco factory that reopened reconverted into an International Centre for Contemporary Culture in September 2015 in San Sebastian, Spain.

Her experience in Spanish art institutions include the contemporary art fair in Madrid, ARCO, where she was in charge of the curated programmes and international galleries, MUSAC, the museum of contemporary art of Castilla y León, where she was the general coordinator of the museum (2010), and Matadero Madrid, as part of the programming team (2011-2012).

Formed as a journalist, she soon got into arts management after her experience in London in several galleries. Back in Spain in 2004, she was part of the Manifesta 5 biennial team in San Sebastian. She has also been a contributor at the San Sebastian Film Festival.
